ANYA WAITE

Renaissance Woman

Dalhousie University

An engineering professor for much of her career, Waite was trained in many disciplines. Transdisciplinary thinking fed explorations in all five oceans, where she studies physical-biological interactions. She is the first woman to co-chair the Global Ocean Observation System steering committee.

Ingenium, Department of Fisheries and Oceans and Canadian Commission for UNESCO are committed to encouraging and empowering women and girls in science, technology, engineering, and math. Learn more at: ingeniumcanada.org/womeninstem/
