CATHERINE LAMBERT-KOIZUMI

Ecology by Land and Sea

Inspired by the beauty of nature from her childhood in the Laurentians, Lambert-Koizumi has undertaken to study ecology on all three Canadian coasts, from large terrestrial carnivores to fisheries. In collaboration with Indigenous communities, she helps develop sustainable conservation practices and co-governance of coastal and ocean ecosystems.

Ingenium, Fisheries and Oceans Canada and Canadian Commission for UNESCO are committed to encouraging and empowering women and girls in science, technology, engineering, and math. Learn more at: ingeniumcanada.org/womeninstem/
